Fast food takeaway 'overrun' by cockroaches

A FAST food takeaway in Harlow has been closed for breaching hygiene regulations – including an active cockroach infestation.

Harlow Council went to court to obtain an emergency prohibition order against Mirch Masala Express in Edinburgh Gate – opposite Harlow Town station – following a routine check.

The inspection carried out last month by environmental health officers found:

- an active cockroach infestation in all areas of the premises including in food containers and on food contact surfaces. Pest control records showed the problem dated back to early August;
- no hot water supply to wash hand basins and sinks in food preparation areas;
- a wash hand basin that was not connected to the drain;

- visibly dirty food preparation surfaces and equipment including chopping boards, oven and microwave
- uncovered cooked chicken left cooling in the kitchen and in an oven encrusted with burned-on fat and raw foods stored directly above cooked and ready-to-eat food, presenting risks of contamination from dripping juices.

The environmental health officers said staff appeared to have almost no understanding of food hygiene and showed little concern about the conditions.

The takeaway was closed immediately and served with a hygiene emergency prohibition notice by the council. An officer returned five days later to lay traps to monitor the cockroach infestation and saw live bugs near the bin area.

Some cleaning and repairs had been carried out when a further check of the premises was carried out on October 31 but the traps that had been laid contained more than 100 cockroaches.

As a result the council obtained an emergency order which makes it an offence for a food business to operate from the site until the authority is satisfied that it is hygienic and does not pose a risk to health.

Councillor Mark Wilkinson, portfolio holder for environment, said: "This is not action we take lightly but the hygiene

County invites applications for primary school places

THE process for applying for places at primary schools in Essex for the September 2015 intake got under way this week.

Parents and carers of children born from September 1, 2010 to August 31, 2011 have until January 15 to submit their applications.

All children of reception age are entitled to start school in the September following their fourth birthday.

Primary school applications can be made online at www.essex.gov.uk/admissions. The website also provides parents with information about schools as well as Ofsted reports and admissions criteria.

Essex county councillor Ray Gooding, cabinet member with responsibility for education and lifelong learning, said: "Applying for the right primary school for your child is an important decision and I would urge parents to use the tools available to ensure they make an informed application."

"Due to increasing pressure on primary school places, schools can become oversubscribed so it is important for parents to carefully consider admissions criteria and give themselves maximum opportunity to be considered for a school they want by using all their four preferences."

offences and the numbers of cockroaches were so extreme we had to act due to the risk the premises posed to the public.

"These premises operate in an area where there are hundreds of people commuting in and out of the town on a daily basis at Harlow Town station."

"Officers are liaising with the owners to help them make improvements but the premises will not open until we are entirely satisfied that they have reached compliance."

Santa opens the doors to his Christmas grotto

YO HO HO: Santa in his grotto with two-year-old Daniel

SANTA arrived in Harlow on Saturday to take up residence in his grotto in the middle of the Harvey Centre.

The grotto will be open seven days a week until Christmas Eve. The opening times are as follows:

- weekdays from 10am-1pm and 2pm-5pm (closing at 3pm on Christmas Eve only)
- Saturdays from 10am-5pm
- Sundays from 11am-4pm

The opening of the grotto signals the start of the run-up to Christmas in the shopping centre. On Saturday, November 29 it will host a Christmas extravaganza with themed comedy shows, a card-making workshop, mulled wine stall, mince pies, balloon modelling and face painting.

Throughout the festive period there will also be themed cookery classes, characters and choir performances.

Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young said: "Christmas is one of our favourite times here so we decided to celebrate in style. We're sure our shoppers will love the magical grotto and all the other activities we have in store."

Labour leader set for election battle

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LABOUR Party leader Ed Miliband met students, residents and community leaders during a three-hour visit to Harlow College yesterday (Wednesday).

Mr Miliband answered questions on immigration, apprenticeships, housing and his vision for a Labour Government after next year's general election.

He was also quizzed by the college's journalism students.

In an interview with the Star, Mr Miliband spoke of his support for Suzy Stride, Labour's parliamentary candidate for Harlow.

"I am incredibly proud of Suzy who has shown incredible commitment in her campaigning," he said.

"The current Government stands up for a few people in the country and when those few people are doing okay it means the country is okay. Suzy's going to fight for the people of Harlow."

"I know she can make a difference and we can make a difference to the country. It is one thing to talk about things in Harlow but you have to carry that through to Parliament. Suzy will vote the same way she tells people she will."

He said Labour would give additional powers to local councils to build homes. "We would make sure housing is there," he said. "We would build more homes, and build them for local residents."

"Our jobs guarantee would also help older as well as younger people. It is a total waste to not have work for residents."

Ms Stride told Mr Miliband the town's biggest issues were aspiration, housing and jobs, said: "Harlow is a key seat and people here have the privilege of deciding the next election."

"Ed coming here today shows residents that they are important to Labour and to him."

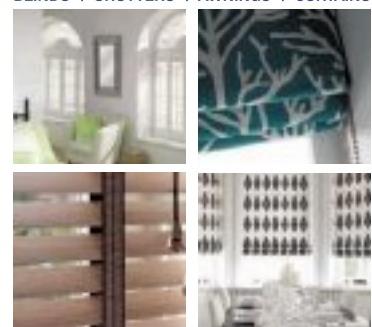

"He has not come just for a visit but has committed his time to meet students and answer residents' questions. He has given people a chance to tell him what they are concerned about because Harlow is important."

Traveller encampments*SIR In his letter to the Home Secretary and the Secretaries of State for Communities & Local Government and Justice about the Traveller issues in the town (Star, November 6) Robert Halfon has asked for a review of legislation and clarification of the law that councils can enforce.

This echoes the council's requests for more effective legislation to enable it to tackle the problems caused by unauthorised and illegal encampments.

As Mr Halfon knows – and has been reported and acknowledged – the council is doing all it can within the constraints of the current legislation and has called on Essex County Council to bring into use the land available at its existing Fernhill site to provide further pitches for Travellers.

Harlow residents are very angry about persistent unauthorised encampments and we share their frustrations. We are doing everything we legally can to move encampments on to protect our green spaces and respond to concerns about the impact this is having on the whole community.

However, this is costing us, the county council and the police both time and taxpayers' money. The council has written to the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government and to the Home Secretary requesting a review of the law to help councils to tackle these issues and suggested how the law might be changed. This should not be treated as a political issue and needs to be addressed by all concerned positively.

There is a need to review the balance to be struck between the rights of the settled community and Travellers to ensure that unauthorised encampments are not allowed to blight communities.

It is clear that there is a need for more authorised traveller pitches and transit sites in the country. The council is calling on the Government to put pressure on other areas to provide authorised Traveller sites. Harlow already has two public authorised Traveller sites run by the county council whereas some areas have no public sites.

We are also calling on the county council to bring the vacant Traveller pitches at its existing Fernhill site back into use by undertaking the repair work required and reconnecting the services. There may be potential for more pitches on vacant land the county council owns adjacent to the site and I urge it to apply for any Government funding that may become available and consider using some of its considerable reserves to invest in its existing sites.

We have investigated a number of incidents of flytipping around unauthorised encampments. I want to make it clear we treat everyone the same and no one group or individual is exempt when it comes to breaking laws, but to be successful councils need residents to be willing to provide eyewitness information or for an enforcement officer to witness the fly-tipping or littering. Without this we cannot issue fixed penalty notices for littering or prosecute people for fly-tipping.

Harlow Council will continue to look at every legal avenue to recover its costs using the information available. Each

"It was a frosty foggy morning when I walked my dog Pucci over the field by Parndon Nature Reserve last week," he writes. "We were in awe as we stopped and watched the sun slowly break through the fog. It was a fantastic sight."

If you have taken a photo which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. the market traders association told me that they had not foreseen the decline of the open air market and had made a major error in not accepting the change.

Now the council is suggesting a new open market in Broad Walk. But what about a new indoor market?

A soon-to-be-available empty store – as Marks &amp; Spencer deserts its long-time customers – would provide room for at least 100 stalls for fabrics, books, meat, fish, furniture, fortune telling and many other trades. M&amp;S would simply become Market Store.

Ron Bill
Upper Park, HarlowRemoving town bus lanes will get the traffic flowing*SIR I recently had to drive between the High and Old Harlow at 8.45am. When I got to Burnt Mill Academy I found that cars turning right were unable to get out of the school due to a traffic jam.

This jam in turn prevented vehicles getting into the school to drop children off.

The result was a traffic queue going down First Avenue to the east that turned out to be approximately three-quarters of a mile long (as measured on a street map) plus cars queuing as far as could be seen north and south trying to cross The Stow roundabout. The bus lane by the school was, of course, empty.

This situation is causing a great deal of pollution, wasted fuel and frustration for people wasting their time sitting in a traffic jam.

A very reliable source has told me that four road deaths in Harlow are directly attributable to the bus lanes. I am astonished that such a situation should happen.

I know of two senior citizens living in different parts of Harlow who regularly use the buses. They have told me buses are frequently five-10 minutes late and quite often do not turn up at all, leaving them to wait a further half-hour.

Would it not be sensible for Harlow to take a leaf out of Liverpool's book and remove the bus and reinstate the bus stop laybys which, for example, have been removed from First Avenue?

In this simple way a great many of Harlow's peak hour traffic jams would be removed and probably restore some safety to the town.

Elaine Allen
Sheering Road, HarlowHoping to contact Dorothy*SIR I am looking to contact a Dorothy Perry who I am told used to live at 2 Newhall Cottages on the London Road.

As a child back in the 1930s I used to stay there with my grandparents, William and Alice Perry. My Uncle Fred used to live next door and had two boys – Cecil and Alan – and a younger daughter - my cousins. My Uncle Percy and Aunt Cecily used to live further along the London Road.

It seems that Dorothy may be related to me. I believe she still lives somewhere in Harlow.

the history that central government had responsibility for the problems resulting from re-routing of the M11, a decision made in the 1970s.

However, studying the history a little more closely will show that in August 1962 Ernest Marples put the study of the M11 routeing out to a firm of consultants. During the Harold Wilson administration and on the advice of ministry experts, their proposals were rejected a number of times, but it was the Heath administration that made the final decision to adopt the routeing on the east side of the town.

It matters little in 2014 who made the decision or why. What is clear, however, is that once it was decided that the road was to be re-routed to the east of Harlow, then that final decision should have recognised the need to include a junction and link road, to serve the three centres of commerce on the northern side of the town.

Cost-wise, it would have been a tiny fraction of the whole motorway from Redbridge to Stumps Cross, which was built for something like £40m.

However, the then 100+ traders on the Market Square organised a petition against it and collected thousands of signatures so the council abandoned the idea.

Man, 73, to stand trial over historic sex offences

A PENSIONER accused of committing a string of sex offences, including rape, in Harlow more than 30 years is to stand trial.

Reginald Pike, 73, of, Barton Mills, Bury St Edmunds, pleaded not guilty to six charges in respect of offences said to have been committed between December 5, 1973 and April 30, 1979.

He denied four charges of gross indecency with a girl aged 12-15 one charge of indecently assaulting a girl aged 16 and one charge of raping a girl aged 16 or over.

Pike was granted unconditional bail when he appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday. His trial is scheduled begin in March next year.

Scouts seek to raise £10k to move into hut

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

SCOUTS hoping to move into their new home are appealing for contributions toward the last of the cash needed to make it a reality.

The 7th Harlow Scout group started work on the new hut in January and once complete it will provide a permanent meeting place for scores of Scouts, Cubs and Beavers.

But despite a successful fundraising campaign, the group need more cash to finish the work.

A week before Christmas 2011, flames tore through the Manor Hatch Close base, leaving the group, who had used the building for more than 30 years, homeless.

Denise Dalby, of the group, said: "From the outside the building looks nearly complete but once inside it is evident that there is still a lot of work to be undertaken.

"The build progress has been sure and steady but is now at a critical stage and with almost depleted funds, completion of the work will only take place as and when money is available."

The current estimate to complete the main building is £25,000 but to get to the stage where the building can be used will require a sum of just over £10,000.

There are also extensive grounds to clear and make safe for use for the young people.

The group managed to raise more than £70,000 with their 'Buy a Brick' campaign which gave residents and companies the chance to purchase a brick for £5 that will be used in the building.

Ms Dalby added: "The new building is a home for all of us and we want to see as many people involved as possible."

Future fundraising events include a race night and, in December, the group will run the charity car park in Harlow town centre. There will also be 'site work' days with planned working activities.

Anyone who can help should email buyabrick@hotmail.co.uk or visit 7th Harlow Scout Group at [www.harlow scouts.org.uk](http://www.harlow scouts.org.uk).

£2k reward to catch cab arson attack gang

A CABBIE whose vehicle was set on fire after he was assaulted and robbed earlier this year is offering £2,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the culprits.

The driver, who is in his 50s but wishes to remain anonymous, was attacked after answering a call to pick up five people from outside the Heart and Club pub in Pypers Hatch in the early hours of Friday, August 8.

Once the group were inside the car, and while the driver explained that he could not take them all due to safety reasons, he was grabbed around the neck and forced out of the car.

The blue Peugeot 307 estate was then driven away. The burned-out shell was later found in Peldon Road, Harlow.

"They wanted me to take them but there were too many," said the driver. "I tried to arrange with my company for another car but before I could they assaulted me and took the car."

The driver suffered cuts and bruises. His Samsung PDA, worth around £500, as well as £190 and his wallet were also stolen.

"We want to appeal for the people who were in the car when it happened and were more like bystanders," he said. "We'd also like to hear from anyone who may have seen anything at the time."

"There is a reward pot of £2,000 which will be shared between anyone who provides information that leads to a conviction."

"Whether that pot of money is shared or given to just one person will depend on the information but it must lead to a conviction."

He added: "The people we are particularly interested in finding is the passenger who was sitting behind me and the passenger sitting in the front seat."

Anyone with information is urged to contact DC Ferguson at Harlow CID on 101.

Awards ceremony a celebration of pupils' progress and achievements

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

YOUNG people were rewarded for their hard work, dedication and ambition at the first ever Harlow Educational Progress Awards.

The awards recognised the educational progress of 11 pupils in Key Stages 1, 2, 3 and 4 who attend schools in Harlow.

Guest of honour at Thursday's ceremony held in the Civic Centre was Paralympic athlete Anne Wafula-Strike, who last month received the MBE. She was awarded in the Queen's Birthday Honours List for her services to disability sport and charity work.

Ms Wafula-Strike said: "It was a genuine pleasure and privilege to attend the awards ceremony and see that children of all abilities were being rewarded for their efforts."

"Education is a magic key to life and it was heart-warming to see the young people receive their awards. Well done to Harlow Council for organising it."

She told the students: "We are in charge of the quality of person we become."

"Education is a magic key and opens doors for your futures. Embrace your teachers and your parents."

She added: "So what can we [parents and teachers] do? Support our children to be the best they can be."

Each award winner was nominated by schools and each entry judged by an independent panel.

The awards were the idea of Harlow Council's chief executive Malcolm Morley, who agreed to forgo a pay rise in 2013/14 to fund them as a personal contribution to supporting educational progress in the town.

Educational progression is vital if young people are to fulfil their aspirations and improve their life chances.

The overall winner was Rachel Russell from Burnt Mill Academy.

Mr Morley said: "All those recognised in the awards illustrate that aspiration and effort can lead to real progress and to the fulfilment of potential. I congratulate all those who received awards and hope that they become role models for the young people in Harlow."

Council leader Jon Clempner, added: "Although we are not the education authority we believe we should encourage and reward educational progress to help raise the aspirations and life chances of our young people. It was a great honour to be at the awards."

"The joyous reaction of the students and their families was truly inspirational. They were all a credit to themselves and Harlow."

The 2014 Roll of Honour

Key Stage 1 and 2

1. Andrew Jansen (Pear Tree Mead School)
2. Gene Kennedy (Henry Moore Primary School)
3. Rolsin Cannan (St Albans Catholic Academy)

Key Stage 2 and 3

1. Rebecca Lever (Stewards Academy)
2. Leah Bartram (Passmores Academy)
- 3= Lauren Nicholson (Burnt Mill Academy)
- 3= Safa Waleed-Yousif (Harlow Fields School & College)

Key Stage 3 and 4

1. Rachel Russell (Burnt Mill Academy)
2. Lydia Hawkins (Passmores Academy)
- 3= Lukman Kazeem (Stewards Academy)
- 3= Sylwia Czop (Harlow Fields School & College)

Key Stage 1 and 2
Winner: Andrew Jansen

Andrew was a terrific citizen within the school community. He was highly respectful of those around him and responsible within all the duties he undertook. He was a play and student leader and through this role demonstrated a caring attitude towards younger children. He was an inspiration to those around him, making sure his work was completed to a high standard. He represented his class on the school council and was a dedicated and conscientious pupil. When participating in sporting activities he demonstrated a competitive and ambitious disposition.

Key Stage 3 and 4
Winner: Rachel Russell

When she joined Burnt Mill Academy Rachel was a quiet, shy girl with little self-confidence. She faced significant challenges and was academically graded as a low level 3 in English and maths. With appropriate support, she became more confident and began to express herself. She was able to focus on her studies and was dedicated to working with animals as a career. School friendships began to blossom and Rachel became a well-liked and respected member of the year group. She has truly made outstanding progress both academically and socially.

NEWS

Key Stage 1 and 2
2nd Place: Gene Kennedy

When he was in Year 6 it was discovered that he had an exceptional and unique talent for writing. He took on major roles in the Christmas production, including writing the script and producing the music. Gene excelled at football, ran inter-house events, took part in a boys' dance group and then went on to achieve level 6B in his SATs writing, grammar and spelling paper. He has been a role model for other children, is extremely gifted and self-disciplined. His progress and attainment have been phenomenal in all areas and he has worked incredibly hard to achieve.

Key Stage 1 and 2
3rd Place: Roisin Canney

Roisin has been a model pupil displaying consistently good behaviour and setting an excellent example to her peers. Her progress through the school has been exceptional, making better than expected progress and achieving Level 6 in numeracy, reading, writing, grammar, punctuation and spelling. Her love of reading led her to taking a lead role in setting up a school newspaper. Her distinctive spirit shone through, even in areas that she was not comfortable in. She is an inspirational pupil with an excellent attitude towards learning and life.

Key Stage 2 and 3
Winner: Rebecca Lever

When Rebecca joined Stewards Academy she faced a number of significant challenges to which she has responded magnificently. She has shown herself to be a hardworking, diligent student who has worked tirelessly to exceed her targets. She has been successful in becoming a member of the school council and her confidence has grown considerably. On open day she was able to take parents on tours of the school, demonstrating her pride in her role. Rebecca does not find academic work easy but gives 100 per cent to her studies and her hard work is bearing fruit.

Key Stage 2 and 3
2nd Place: Leah Bartram

Leah has been nominated for outstanding progress and attainment at Key Stage 3. She has a fantastic work ethic and the ability to raise the performance of others around her. Leah is a positive role model to others, sets very high standards for herself, always shows exemplary behaviour and is a pleasure to teach. Her motivation for success is not confined to one area – she plays sport for the school and has represented the Passmores Academy and attended events on numerous occasions. She has now moved to Key Stage 4 and is already showing exceptional progress.

Key Stage 2 and 3
Joint 3rd: Lauren Nicholson

Lauren has made exceptional progress over four levels in all her subjects. Her attendance has consistently been 100 per cent and her conduct and uniform of the highest possible standard. She has played key roles in the school such as helping with the library in Year 7 and volunteering at key school events. She received the Head Teacher's Award when she was in Year 7 and is considered conscientious, diligent and an all-round star. Lauren never complains and is completely dedicated to her studies.

Key Stage 2 and 3
Joint 3rd: Safa Waheed-Yousif

Safa, also known as Munchie, has made impressive progress over the course of Key Stage 3. Despite facing significant challenges, he has shown considerable improvement in his behaviour and attitude to work, setting a good example to his peers. He has worked hard to use symbols to communicate and enjoys interaction with others. He has improved his ability to follow instructions and this has led to him making good progress across the curriculum.

Key Stage 3 and 4
2nd Place: Lydia Hawkins

Lydia has gained fantastic GCSE results with a huge value added score from a very low starting point. This is due to the hard work and effort she put into her subjects, especially during Year 10 and Year 11. She accessed help that was available and maintained a positive attitude to her learning throughout some adversity. Her behaviour was exemplary and she gained a large number of achievement points through her hard work and contribution to school life. Lydia is a student who has made exceptional progress to become a well-rounded and positive individual.

Key Stage 3 and 4
Joint 3rd Place: Lukman Kazeem

Lukman was a pupil with English as a second language and Key Stage 2 results which indicated low levels of attainment as he entered secondary school. He returned to his home country for one year. On his return he entered Key Stage 4 with expected C and D grade GCSE results but soon proved himself to be a diligent, hardworking student who aspired to be the best he could be. He became a prefect and put himself forward to become headboy. He was always prepared to give up time to focus on his studies and attended extended school sessions on a regular basis.

Key Stage 3 and 4
Joint 3rd Place: Sylwia Czop

Sylwia has made huge progress despite the significant challenges that she faces. She has become an independent learner who thinks carefully about how to solve problems and listens to adult feedback. Her self-help skills have improved and she has made progress across the entire curriculum, continuing to demonstrate a hard-working attitude. Her perseverance has led to significant progress and success. She speaks Polish at home and has learned to communicate well in English.

Highly Commended: Kalani Bassi, Kieran Robertson, Lee Hart, Amir Schultschik, Safa Ahmad, Riley Ward, Tyrone Kangwende, Cameron Hudson

Hospice's top dog to get star billing

ST Clare Hospice is searching for a top dog to lead its Winter Walkies event.

The hospice's fundraising team is calling on pet owners to enter their animals in a competition as part of a competition to find the perfect pooch to front the annual event.

The winner will feature on posters, leaflets and other promotional material in the run up to the walk on Sunday, February 22.

St Clare fundraising manager Dominique Brunning said: "Winter Walkies is one of the most popular events in our fundraising calendar and this year we want to give one lucky dog the chance to take the lead by featuring in our publicity campaign."

"We are inviting all dog owners to submit their pictures of their handsome hounds and pretty pups and we will then be inviting the public to vote for their favourite on our Facebook page."

The winning dog and its owner will take part in a photo shoot here at the hospice on November 25 and be invited to start the walk. They will also be presented with a canvas from their photo shoot.

To enter, email a picture of your pet to fundraising@stclarehospice.org.uk, including the dog's name, age and breed as well as your name, address and contact phone number. The deadline for entries is noon on Thursday, November 20.

Voting opens on Friday, November 21 and the dog that receives the most Facebook likes will be named the winner.

GRATEFUL: Siobahn Fiorentini and her son Gino

"On the day I was transferred Gino was coming back to NICU," she said. "I had a brief 15-minute cuddle."

Both Siobahn and Gina have now fully recovered from their ordeals.

"I was lying in the ITU bed thinking how can I thank these people who have saved my life?" she said. "My husband came up with the idea about raising money for the unit."

She is calling her fundraising campaign Shivi's 3 Wishes to represent the three wishes of her family – to save her and Gino's lives and for a new kidney for her, a wish that was granted in July when her aunt donated an organ kidney.

So far she has raised £4,633 towards her £30,000 target.

Siobhan, who lives in Broxbourne, has organised a charity dinner and dance to be held at Broxbourne Civic Hall in Hoddesdon on Saturday, February 21 and is currently looking for sponsors to donate raffle prizes.

To make a donation to Shivi's 3 Wishes visit www.justgiving.com/teams/hivs. For details of the dinner dance call 07904 931680.

Tracy helps charity cash in on rubbish

A MUM is collecting other people's rubbish in Harlow to turn into much-needed funds for a pregnancy charity.

Tracy Stratford is a recycling volunteer for Count the Kicks which collects baby wipe packets, baby food pouches, sweet biscuit wrappers, used stamps, some household cleaning products, printer ink cartridges, clothes and shoes.

The money raised from the recycled goods then goes back to the charity, which aims to reduce the number of families who experience the tragedy of stillbirth by educating expectant mums on the importance of monitoring their baby's movements.

"Count the Kicks has recycling volunteers across the country," said Tracy. "I really want to raise awareness of our scheme and encourage people to donate these items which would otherwise go to landfill so that they can be recycled and the money can go to such a good cause."

"If anyone has items to donate or if there are any companies or groups that would like to get involved by becoming a drop-off point, please get in touch." To donate items contact

Tracy at ctkharlow@hotmail.com or www.facebook.com/groups/ctkrecyclingharlow. For more information about Count the Kicks, visit www.countthekicks.org.uk.

Free showcase for wedding fashions

TWO businesses in Harlow have organised a bridal exhibition and catwalk show on Saturday.

Family-run business Bride-2-B, which designs and creates bespoke wedding dresses, has teamed up with hairdresser Lisa G to provide brides-to-be with some inspirational ideas for their big day.

The event, which will showcase wedding, bridesmaid and prom dresses as well as bridal and avant garde hair and make-up, will be held at Hubbards Hall in Churchgate Street, Old Harlow, at 7pm.

Entry is free but visitors can download tickets at www.eventbrite.co.uk to be entered into a prize draw to win a gift box worth up to £60.

Lottery winner

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice weekly lottery drawn on Friday, November 7 was the holder of ticket number 747627. The winner lives in Stebbing. The rollover prize was not won.

Assault victim is knocked out

THE victim of an assault suffered head and facial injuries when he was knocked unconscious during an attack in Harlow town centre.

Police have this week released a CCTV image of a man they want to question about the incident which happened in the Water Gardens at 3.30am on Saturday, October 4.

The 29-year-old victim was assaulted while he was walking with two women. Police believe his assailant was a man who followed them after an earlier argument.

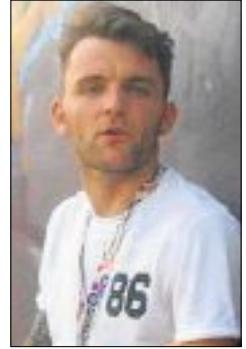

The suspect is described as white, around 5ft 8in tall and was aged 18-25. He was wearing a white polo shirt, jeans and trainers.

Investigating officer PC Paul Marks said: "This man was caught on CCTV at the Water Gardens and I would very much like to hear from anyone who knows who he is."

Anyone with information about the assault should contact PC Marks at Harlow Police Station on 101.

KYLE BROOKS

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE grieving family of a young man who died after being struck by several vehicles as he was walking on a busy dual carriageway in the early hours of the morning have released a moving tribute to a "wonderful, loving and kind-hearted" person.

Kyle Brooks, 28, of Broadfield, Harlow, was killed on the northbound carriageway of the A12 between Boreham and Hatfield Peveral on October 30.

At the opening of an inquest in Chelmsford last Wednesday, coroner's officer Narder Beeson said Mr Brooks had died from multiple injuries. The hearing was adjourned until January.

Born and raised in Harlow, he attended Kingsmoor Primary and Stewards schools before working briefly at Stansted Airport and Sports Direct. He then secured a job at Bush Fair-based printing ink manufacturers Luminescence.

In a statement released through police, Mr Brooks' family said: "Our son, brother, stepson, stepbrother, cousin and uncle is loved and missed deeply by all his family and friends.

"Kyle loved music; he enjoyed listening to a wide variety of artists and loved going to festivals and socialising with his friends.

"His greatest passion was football, especially his beloved team Liverpool. He played in a number of local teams whilst growing up and he had, just this year, returned to Sunday League Football playing for a local team Brays Athletic."

The statement added: "Although his life has been cut tragically short he touched the lives of many people. This has been evident in the outpouring of love we have received and is testimony to what a wonderful, loving, kind-hearted young man Kyle was."

"Losing Kyle so cruelly is something we, as a family, will not ever come to terms with, our lives are emptier without him, we are all heartbroken and struggling daily with the knowledge that he is not coming home. We will love him forever."

John Cooper, technical sales director at Luminescence where Mr Brooks worked for five years, said: "He was a shining light in our company."

"I had the good fortune of going to a couple of technical jobs with Kyle and he was an all-round nice guy. We shall miss him incredibly and everyone who works here is completely devastated."

"There was not a person here who had a bad word to say about him."

Pedal pushers complete 222-mile challenge

SHOPPERS turned to pedal power to help raise money for Harlow-based performing arts group Razed Roof.

As part of its community action programme, staff from the Tesco store in the Harvey Centre teamed up with the inclusive theatre group for a static cycle challenge.

For more than eight hours over three days, the cycled 222 miles – the equivalent distance from Harlow to Liverpool. The 'destination' was inspired by Razed Roof's next production, a performance commemorating the RMS Lusitania which was sunk by a German U-boat in 1915 while on its way to Liverpool.

Shoppers were also encouraged to saddle up for a minimum donation of 50p.

Razed Roof artistic director Annette Lidster said: "We are delighted Tesco chose to support us with this fantastic challenge. Getting to 222 miles was not easy but it was all in the name of a good cause and will really help us to continue the work that we do."

Tesco spokesman Daniel Judd said: "Razed Roof is a fantastic local charity that does vital work for the arts, especially for those with disabilities and learning difficulties.

"We wanted to come up with a fundraising challenge that was a bit different and that both staff and members of the public could get involved with."

Young and old remember

VETERANS, politicians and civic dignitaries rubbed shoulders with representatives of Harlow's service organisations, youth clubs, parents and children as they gathered at the war memorial in the Town Park on Sunday to pay tribute to those who gave their lives in the service of their country.

More than 1,500 people attended the annual Remembrance Sunday parade and service at the Netteswell War Memorial.

The parade down School Lane into the park was lead by former servicemen and women of the Royal British Legion, followed by cadets from all three branches of the Armed Forces, members of St John Ambulance and Scout and Guides groups. Students from local schools also took part.

The crowd ringed the memorial cross which bears the names of those who fell during the First and Second World Wars.

Dozens of wreaths were placed at the foot of the stone memorial by representatives of organisations including Harlow Council, the emergency services, political parties and youth groups. Harlow MP Robert Halfon, Labour parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride and Harlow Council chairman Ian Beckett, all pictured above, were among those to lay tributes.

Standards were lowered as the Last Post was sounded, followed by an immaculately observed two-minute silence.

Following the wreath-laying ceremony, people stepped forward to place simple wooden crosses adorned with poppies dedicated to individual ser-

Rev Ernie Guest, padre of the Harlow branch of the Royal British Legion, said: "It is a great honour to be here amongst you to remember on this special occasion those who have fallen, our loved ones who have not returned but also those of our friends who have returned who have come back injured."

"Today is a special day as we gather together and it is fantastic to see so many of you here."

On Tuesday – Armistice Day – a short service was held outside the offices of Harlow Council in The Water Gardens during which a two-minute silence was observed.

Around 100 people attended a service at the Potter Street war memorial, organised by The League of Gentlemen '95 and led by the group's chaplain, Rev David Moor.

League of Gentleman '95 spokesman Albert Hobdell said: "It was a marvellous service. We had easily 100 people there and everyone sang the hymns and took part in the two-minute silence."

"I was so pleased to see so many people there. We also had a group of schoolchildren and their head-teacher which was nice."

School project manager to meet Kate at awards

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE project manager at a Harlow school will meet the Duchess of Cambridge at a ceremony next week after being named a finalist in an awards programme run by a mental health charity.

Sara Loveday, who works at Stewards Academy, has been nominated in the school-based clinician category of Place2Be's first Wellbeing in Schools Awards.

It is the first time Place2Be – which works with more than 230 primary and secondary schools across the country to help students cope with issues such as bullying, bereavement, domestic violence, family breakdown, neglect and trauma – has held the awards.

There are 20 finalists in seven different categories. The aim is to celebrate the "unsung heroes" who make a difference to the life of their school community.

Ms Loveday was nominated for her efforts in promoting therapy as an effective way of helping students with emotional, social and behavioural barriers to learning.

The person who nominated Ms Loveday for an award said: "Sara has embedded Place2Be into the school ethos, ensuring that mental health is not stigmatised and that every pupil and staff member is aware of the support mechanisms available."

The winners have been chosen by a panel of judges including Children's Commissioner for England Dr Maggie Atkinson, clinical psychologist and journalist Professor Tanya Byron, Ofsted lead inspector Wendy Simmons and deputy chief commissioner of police Jon Boutcher.

Place2Be chief executive Catherine Roche said: "We are absolutely thrilled that Sara is a finalist for Stewards Academy. The nominations we received were inspiring and we heard stories of extraordinary bravery and determination of children and families.

"Some pupils come to school with so much on their minds. With the work of Place2Be and the school in partnership we can help to address those problems, freeing up the child to focus on learning and the very important business of childhood."

Ms Roche said the awards provided an opportunity to celebrate the achievements of the charity's volunteers, staff, headteachers, parents, school colleagues and the children.

Kate Middleton, who has been the patron of Place2Be since last year, will attend the ceremony which takes place in the state apartments of Kensington Palace on Wednesday.

"The Duchess is committed to improving the mental health and emotional well-being of children in the UK," said Ms Roche. "Her support for Place2Be has helped to shine a spotlight on the need to tackle children's mental health at the earliest possible stage."

A GROUP of driving instructors in Harlow have been playing their part in raising money for this year's BBC Children in Need appeal.

Kim Harris, an instructor with ExL Driving School, signed up for the Big Learner Relay after reading about it on social media website Facebook.

The fundraiser was the idea of Hampshire-based driving tutor Louise Walsh, who suggested instructors across the country pass a top box – the type which normally sits on the car roof – from one instructor to another at 147 handover locations over a period of 13 days.

The relay, which started in Northern Ireland on October 30 and will finish in Birmingham tomorrow (Friday), stopped off in

Instructors drive up Children in Need total with box relay

Harlow last Friday. Kim, her colleagues from ExL Driving School and a number of independent instructors received the box from a group from Chelmsford before setting off in convoy to Hertford.

"The support was fantastic and it was brilliant to be a part of," said Kim. "We had 11 cars following us for a while and some of the cars that came from Chelmsford joined the convoy to Hertford.

"We're really grateful to Dave Hartery and his team at the Water Gardens car park for all their help and support in letting us use the bottom end of the car park to allow all the instructor's cars to be together." Learner driver Kirstie Wood, 29, of Bush Fair, drove the car which led the convoy.

"I was very nervous," she said. "It was scary but exciting to be leading and I was really pleased to be picked."

Kim added: "We also have spots on our cars that can be sponsored to help boost our fundraising total. People can sponsor a spot and then write their message on it. We'll be doing that until the end of the month."

To sponsor a spot call ExL Driving School on 0800 5677460 or text Pass73 to 70070.

If you are holding an event to raise money for Children In Need, email your photos to star@herts essexnews.co.uk, tweet @Harlowstar or post them to our Facebook page

Maria CREDE

It is with sadness that we have to report the death of Maria Credé.

Many peoples lives in Harlow will have been touched by Maria. In her active role with the Redeemer Lutheran Church, in her working life up to 1984 as Admin Manager at United Glass and in her many years supporting the Citizens Advice Bureau and the Friends of the Samaritans amongst other causes.

Above all she was interested in people, getting to know them, understanding them and, where she could, helping them. She died on Sunday, peacefully in her own bed at the age of 90.

She will be much missed by many in her community in Harlow and beyond as well as her three sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

For Funeral details please contact bcrede52@gmail.com or 07754 515391

It was a sudden parting, too bitter to forget, those who loved you dearly, are the ones who can't forget. We often sit and think of you and think of how you died, to think you could not say goodbye, before you closed your eyes.

The blow was hard, the shock severe, to part with one we loved so dear. Our family chain has broken, nothing seems the same, but as God calls us one by one, the links will join again. You're always in our thoughts.

On your parks! Runners join in the latest keep-fit craze

HARLOW joined the global phenomenon of parkrun on Saturday when more than 150 people completed the first 5km course around the Town Park.

The weekly event is not a race but a timed run co-ordinated entirely by volunteers. It is now set to take place every Saturday at 9am.

Free to enter and open to all ages and abilities, although children under 11 must be accompanied by an adult, parkruns aim to break down barriers by encouraging more people to take up regular exercise.

Some 154 people representing 31 different clubs as well as individual runners – including Harlow Council chairman Ian

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Beckett – took part in Saturday's event.

A spokesperson for the organisers said: "A special shout out to some wonderful, amazing people who, without their help and support, today would not have happened – Gerry McGovern, Rory Marriott, Len Marten and Richard Sandford.

"That's not forgetting the 20 volunteers who gave up their time to marshal, time keep, scan barcodes, set the course up and pack it away again and tail run.

"Without their help and support, Harlow parkrun would not happen. Just three times a year is all it takes to keep parkrun going if every runner took a turn."

Participants register for free on the parkrun website, print their unique barcode and simply turn up and run. The barcode is also valid at more than 500 parkrun events worldwide, all of which take place every week on Saturday morning.

Each person who completes the course receives their result by text message and email after the run, and everyone receives their own personal web page that tracks their improvements over time.

On Saturday, Donald Campbell was the first person to complete the course in a time of 19 minutes and 50 seconds.

PAH leads the way in state-of-the-art cancer treatment

Three months after taking over as chief executive of Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital, Phil Morley has been talking to Star news editor Gemma Gardner about his plans for the future of the hospital. In the second of a two-part report, he focuses on the innovation and research taking place on our doorstep.

BY April next year the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust will have recruited 123 qualified nurses, 25 qualified midwives and 45 healthcare support workers locally and nationally.

But it hasn't been easy and the hospital has been increasingly dependant on agency staff.

"We will of course continue with our programme of recruitment so these numbers will continue to grow," said chief executive Phil Morley.

"We have also continued our success recruiting nurses from overseas. Eighteen registered nurses from Madeira will be joining us in December and January as well as 27 registered nurses from Portugal who will be employed by NHS Professionals but working solely for PAH."

"In May 2014 the trust board agreed to invest in 53 additional registered nurses to increase the number of qualified nurses on night duty. Now that we are on top of the persistent vacancy factor, we will begin to see the additional posts being recruited from January onwards."

And keeping his staff happy is hugely important to Mr Morley, whose aim is to make it possible for them to do every day the things they're best at. One way of doing this is communication.

"I had six members of staff come and spend different times with me to talk about issues and I've done a few tours of the wards. Every week I'm meeting a different clinical specialty."

"Yesterday I spent a couple of hours in the pathology lab with the team and they all stayed on till 8pm, telling me what a great service we've got."

PAH is one of only four centres across the UK to use Intraoperative Radiation Therapy, a cancer treatment which massively reduces the amount of time a woman needs to undergo radiotherapy as well as the damage that can be caused to tissue by traditional methods.

"There's some brilliant stuff we're doing that stops patients with breast cancer having to go back for a second treatment," said Mr Morley. "We're one of only four trusts that does that and we've got the IRT. These are just some amazing things that I've seen here."

"IRT works by delivering a single dose of radiotherapy in a very targeted way during surgery itself."

Typically women who have lumpectomies to remove small tumours would be given an extended course of radiation to their entire breast to reduce the chance of the cancer returning.

"IRT significantly reduces the time and harm of traditional radiation."

"Our doctors are also working on a test that allows surgeons to establish within minutes, again while the patient is still on the operating table, whether malignant cells have spread to the lymph nodes. If it has, the affected nodes are removed there and then."

On the subject of hospital-acquired infections, he said: "Our control of Clostridium Difficile has placed us as one of the best district general hospitals in the country with just five cases so far this financial year, despite our large elderly population who are known to be at risk from C-Diff. "Our success can be attributed to the responsible use of antibiotics combined with good hand washing, use of personal protective equipment and a high level of environmental cleaning."

Infection prevention and control practices in the hospital are being supported by state-of-the-art technology introduced in the PAH's pathology (microbiology) laboratory.

The department is using technology to identify multi-resistant organisms and to enable rapid identification of organisms, measures which enabled rapid infection control measures to be implemented.

And technology is not only being used for research; it is also being helping to deep cleanse wards.

Mr Morley explained: "The purchase of not one but two hydrogen peroxide vapour decontamination machines has meant we have been able to augment the cleaning of wards – which is already at an extremely high standard – by our in-house cleaning team."

"All this has ensured we have kept resistant superbugs to the minimum and to date have not had any outbreaks with super-bugs."

"Our matrons provide a high level of observation on wards and ensure that staff observe the 'bare below the elbows' policy to enable optimal hand washing."

"Twice daily cleaning is ongoing, and medical staff take great care to adhere to the hospital antibiotic policy."

"We have also reduced significantly mortality associated with infections such as MRSA and infections relating to medical devices due to mandatory training of aseptic procedures."

Mr Morley concluded: "I'd say Harlow is a really friendly place, the town is a friendly place and the staff are welcoming and warm."

"I think it's now our role is to try to find a future for the organisation."

Academy awards for skills students

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

SCORES of people turned out to support apprentices, work experience students, college tutors and employers as they were honoured at a ceremony.

The awards evening at Blake's Golf Club in North Weald was organised by Harlow Skills Academy, which was set up by construction firms Denne and Moat more than two years ago, to help residents get into employment or further their career by learning new skills and gaining practical work experience in the construction industry.

More than 1,750 people have benefited from the Harlow Skills Academy, which is based at Carters Mead and supported by Harlow Council.

In 30 months, the staff at the academy ran workshops for more than 1,000 school and college students, arranged more than 40 work experience placements and put more than 40 unemployed residents through the Construction Skills Certificate Scheme.

In addition to helping 24 residents into long-term employment, the staff also ran an apprenticeship programme and arranged for more than 50 people to attend health and safety courses, as well as 200 Harlow residents to attend a range of other short courses.

Speaking after the awards ceremony, Debbie Garrard, who heads up the Harlow Skills Academy for Bouygues UK, said: "I am proud, both personally and professionally, of what the team has achieved here at the skills academy."

"The numbers speak for themselves, but the truth is that Harlow Skills Academy wouldn't have been half as successful without all of the partners including Moat, local employers, charities and Harlow College, to name just a few."

"The reason it's been so effective is because of the strong desire and commitment from all of the partners involved, to support local residents here in Harlow."

Denne, part of Bouygues UK, recently completed a batch of three mixed-use housing developments in the town on behalf of Moat.

The developments - 28 new homes for residents at Clifton Hatch, Minerva, 27 new homes at Carters Mead and 44 rooms at Station Road - form part of a wider initiative by the council to regenerate the town's neighbourhoods as well as provide much-needed housing for local residents.

EMPLOYMENT minister Esther McVey officially opened Poundland's flagship distribution centre in Harlow.

The depot, which will be Poundland's largest facility, will help drive growth in UK and Europe and serve the retailer's entire store network.

The new facility will provide Poundland with the additional network capacity to grow its store estate from 540 outlets to more than 750 stores.

More than 6,000 jobs will be created in new stores over the next three years through the opening of the distribution centre.

Ms McVey, who opened the distribution centre alongside Poundland chief executive Jim McCarthy, said: "It was great to be able to open this new centre in Essex for what is a dynamic British company now expanding its business across the Channel.

"Helping businesses to export is a vital part of our long-term economic plan and this move will also provide thousands of job opportunities for the people of Essex and the surrounding area.

"This is further proof that businesses are increasingly confident about the UK's growing economy and therefore able to expand and help boost our record level of employment."

The opening of the centre and investment in Poundland's infrastructure will enable the company to offer new product ranges to new stores in the UK and abroad.

Head for heights

If you have been watching the television news during the past week you may have seen pictures of the incredible achievements of tightrope walker Nik Wallenda, Pictured left.

The highwire daredevil broke two world records when he walked across a wire stretched between two skyscrapers in the American city of Chicago. What made it even more breathtaking was that he completed one of them wearing a blindfold and without a safety harness or net.

The two-inch thick wire was stretched between two towers more than 600ft up and crossing over a river which separated the buildings.

It took Nik about six-and-a-half minutes to complete his first walk which measured 138 metres and was up a steep incline.

Then, wearing a blindfold, he completed his second walk of 30 metres in just over a minute.

Afterwards he told reporters: "You probably saw me shaking like a leaf. That wire was shaking underneath me and I just wanted to make it to the other side."

St. Mary's Catholic School - Bishop's Stortford Sixth Form Information Evening

An open invitation to all students considering Post-16 Education Thursday the 27th of November • 6.00pm -8.00pm
"This is an Outstanding School" — OFSTED October 2012

6.00 -8.00pm — Speak to subject staff

Selected classrooms will be open for prospective students to speak to subject staff about the excellent choices on offer at St. Mary's which was rated as "Outstanding" in all categories in the recent OFSTED inspection.

7.15pm — What St. Mary's has to offer Post-16

Presentations in the main school hall from Assistant Heads in charge of Sixth Form and Curriculum as well as the current Head Boy and Girl.

St. Mary's is a Catholic school with a strong ethos.

We welcome applications from all students regardless of their religious views and you DO NOT need to be Catholic to apply.

OFSTED, October 2012 stated:-

- The sixth form is outstanding.
- Students in the sixth form make outstanding progress. The school's accurate analysis of this rapid progress is confirmed through sixth form lesson observations.
- Achievement is outstanding in all key stages.
- Students are very well prepared for the next stage in their education, training or employment with support provided individually to each student.
- Outstanding teaching is supported by teachers' strong subject knowledge, especially in the sixth form.
- Students' attitudes to learning are exemplary. Sixth Form students act as mentors to younger students. However, everyone takes a role in caring for each other, and the wider community.

In the past few years a number of students have gained places at Oxbridge universities as well as competitive courses such as Medicine. We have a range of academic and vocational courses on offer. Pastoral care is a feature of the sixth form and there are many opportunities for personal development and enrichment.

The Prospectus will be available on the evening of the 27th of November.

Bigger market is just one way we plan to improve the town centre

As attention now turns to the start of the Christmas season, I am very pleased that the public funding appeal for this year's Christmas lights in the town centre has attracted money from two companies - Places for People and Courtenay Investments - to help make it possible.

Lighting up the town centre is just one of a number of plans we have to improve the town centre for Christmas.

Shortly we will move ahead with expanding the market down Broad Walk and with plans for a seven day a week Christmas market - all part of making a positive and visible difference to Harlow.

Harlow market has been an important part of the town centre for 58 years. These plans are about giving shoppers more choice and value but also about making it a more viable business for traders.

We also want to encourage people starting out in business to give market trading a go by offering free trading periods.

It is extremely disappointing that Marks & Spencer appears to be considering leaving the town

COUNCIL matters

By Cllr Jon Clempner
Leader, Harlow Council

and we hope that they will rethink their plans.

We believe there are other options available to them and we very much want them to be part of the town centre's regeneration by investing in it, as many other retailers are doing.

One way businesses can help boost the local economy is to pay low-paid workers the Living Wage. Paying £7.85 an hour is fair, and makes a huge difference to families.

Both Harlow Council and Kier Harlow Ltd are Living Wage employers and we want more Harlow businesses to follow.

I was delighted that Kier

Harlow's commitment and contribution to promoting the Living Wage was recognised last week when they won a Living Wage Champion Award.

Last Thursday it was a great honour to be at the Harlow Educational Progress Awards [see pages 6 and 7].

These awards are about recognising the educational progress of the town's children and young people and the efforts all local schools are making to improve.

The joyous reaction of the students and their families was truly inspirational, and they were all a credit to themselves and Harlow.

Seconds out for the clash of the wrestling giants

GRAPPLE fans are in for a treat when WrestleForce returns to Harlow tomorrow (Friday).

The main event of the evening, which takes place at the GPCA in Abercrombie Way, will be a tag-team fight featuring Zulu Warrior and Martin 'The Guvnor' Stone, two powerful heavyweights who have recently returned to the country after spending two years in the United States working for the WWE.

Opposing them will be Paul 'The Commando' Synnot, who quickly climbed the ranks after turning his attention to professional wrestling and who last year won the League of Champion's tournaments.

Teaming up with him is long-time British wrestling veteran Phil Powers from Essex, who said: "I was working on the circuit with Zulu Warrior and Martin Stone before they got signed by the WWE and left for America and I have tremendous respect for both men."

"But if they think they're just going to walk back in and walk all over the UK wrestling scene because they worked for the biggest company in the world, they have another thing coming."

"As far as I'm concerned the best competition is right here in the Essex wrestling scene and I've been dominating it for over 20 years."

Tickets for tomorrow's event cost £10 and can be purchased from www.wrestleforce.co.uk. Doors open at 7pm and the first bell is 7.30pm.

Round-faced jolly man or knife-wielding teddy bear?

HAL Cruttenden is not your average comedian and his latest tour, which has been extended for the fourth time due to popular demand, promises to be a night with a difference.

Harlow audiences will be able to judge for themselves when the stand-up comic, who is also a professional actor and writer, brings his show to The Playhouse next week.

It's not the first time Hal has performed in the town – he's played a few times at The Square - and he promises a show full of funny, sharp-edged humour on subjects such as Facebook, family and food.

"I'm looking forward to coming to Harlow because I live in Enfield which is close by," he told the Star this week. "I'll probably be late but it's nice to be close to home."

"I suppose [the show] is full of the sorts of things that are occurring in our society. A lot of my stuff is about me getting older and I keep writing about Facebook at the moment."

"I also bring up four stories about bravery to show that I am quite brave, although there is a little twist to those."

Hal said he likes surprising people who expect him to be a "smiley, round-faced comedian".

"I think the thing that gets me as a comic is that people see you as a round faced jolly man," he said. "I was once described as a teddy bear that hugs you and then stabs you in the back. I think that's a good way to describe me."

He adds: "I love comedy and I find it really rewarding. When you're doing stand-up you get all the attention to yourself which is always good.

"With comedy you cannot fake it; you either get the laughs or you don't. It's not like acting where I can be in a play and then my friends come backstage and tell me I was great because they don't want to tell me I was rubbish."

"I also like the fact that you can say something in comedy – that great joke, the one that gets the audience going 'yes' and they go home thinking about it."

"It's about saying something that people do not have the guts to say but are usually thinking. In comedy you can say it, you get away with it because that's the medium."

So why should Harlow residents come to see him? "The show is amazing, the best thing ever," he jokes.

"Anyway, there's nothing on TV on a Wednesday; it's not like you'll be missing The X Factor by coming to see me."

The Guide

GIFTS for gardeners are everywhere, catering for everyone from armchair enthusiasts to green-fingered gadget lovers. Here are just a few ideas to suit different gardening types.

THE ARMCHAIR GARDENER

- For those who want inspiration from gardens at home and abroad, The Gardener's Garden (£49.95, Phaidon Press) provides it in spades. This is surely the ultimate coffee table tome on the world's most outstanding gardens, featuring gardens from every continent by designers including Beth Chatto, Christopher Bradley-Hole, Capability Brown and Tom Stuart-Smith and more than 1,000 colour photographs

- While browsing through a gardening book, the armchair gardener may also enjoy a hot toddy. Enjoy the aromatic scent of Christmas with a mulled wine or whisky toddy from ready-mixed spice sachets from the National Trust (£4.50 per pack, www.shop.nationaltrust.org.uk).

THE WILDLIFE LOVER

- A new idea comes from the Eden Project in the form of Wildlife Seedbombs (£3.50 each, www.edenprojectshop.com), which you soak first then throw on to a section of your garden and simply watch it burst into life. These are ideal for adding colour and attracting pollinating insects to sections of neglected garden. Choose from cornflower fieldbomb, pollinator beebomb, poppy peacebomb, sunflower powerbomb or thyme bomb.
- Bird lovers will appreciate a classy bird feeder which you can also personalise. Check out the Oak Hanging Bird Feeder from Getting Personal, which comes with a thick, twisted rustic rope so that you can hang it from a tree branch or other support. Featuring a shallow bowl for seeds and nuts, the wide edge of the feeder can be engraved with a short message or name (£84.99, www.gettingpersonal.co.uk).

Christmas gifts for gardeners

- The designs on these Funky Laundry bags makes you think of wildlife every time you look at them. Store garden cushions in them, choosing designs ranging from bluebells and wild flower meadow, to chilli, nuts and bolts and roses. The bags are also ideal for collecting and depositing garden leaves (£6.99, www.funkylaundry.co.uk).

THE PAMPERED GARDENER

Bring the fragrance of Christmas into the pampered gardener's home with a stylish and subtle pine and eucalyptus scented bauble from Jo Malone, which will happily adorn any tree and make the scent of Christmas last well into the New Year (£32, www.jomalone.co.uk).

- The pampered gardener will appreciate a pile of soothing goodies after a hard day in the garden, including hand lotion, hand wash and body soap in a Woodlands Watering Can Gardener's Gift (£26, www.gardendivas.co.uk). The set includes a handy wooden nail brush and a pair of floral gardening gloves.

THE GADGET LOVER

- Keep hands warm with a pair of Briers Warm Ups, gloves which you stick in the microwave to heat up the micro gel within them to keep hands warm. They should stay warm for up to an hour and you can dry them naturally and wipe with a damp cloth (£24.99, www.briersltd.co.uk).

- Save space in the shed with Handigger, a Swedish product used to dig, plant, scoop, level or just break up compacted soil. With an ergonomically comfortable handle recommended for people with osteoarthritis and rheumatic pain and two different shaped blades, it took two years of testing to develop it to suit both amateur and professional gardeners (£9.99, www.chaselink.co.uk).

THE SHED ENTHUSIAST

- The man - or woman - who finds solace in his shed can chalk up some gardening reminders on a quirky Slate Welly Boot Chalk Board with a rope handle (£9.99, www.rhsshop.co.uk).

- Are you always tripping over tools in your shed? If so, you need the new Tool Track Rack from Nether Wallop, as its ingenious sliding elements enable it to hold at least 15 tools. It comes supplied with fixings for wood or brick. (£29.95, www.netherwalloptrading.co.uk).

Jobs to do in the garden this week

:: Cut the lawn for the last time this year then and clean and store the lawnmower.

:: Lift begonia tubers, dry them and store in a cool, frost-free place.

:: Lift and divide overcrowded clumps of chives and reset in small groups.

:: Cover perpetual spinach with cloches to protect the tender leaves.

:: Put wire netting over the tops of pots to prevent squirrels digging up bulbs you have planted.

:: Firm back newly-planted trees and shrubs after frosts.

:: Continue to plant tulips and hyacinths.

:: Move containers of winter pansies closer to the house to protect them from wind and rain.

:: In persistently frosty weather, lag outdoor containers by wrapping bubble wrap around them, because if the compost freezes solid for long, it will kill the plants.

:: Pot up rooted cuttings of rosemary, sage and thyme and put them on a windowsill indoors to give you some sprigs for cooking.

TOM Parker Bowles is aware that he could sound like a walking contradiction.

The food writer and son of the Duchess of Cornwall knows that writing a book called Let's Eat Meat and then encouraging people to eat less of the stuff - but instead spend more on more ethically-produced meat - might sound counter-intuitive.

He also is conscious that with his background it could seem grating when he implores others to pay more for better quality produce. But when it comes to food, he is not one to be easily deterred.

"You get older and a little bit wiser and you realise that you don't have to eat meat every single day," he explains. "Even if you are eating meat every day it doesn't have to be a slab of protein in front of you."

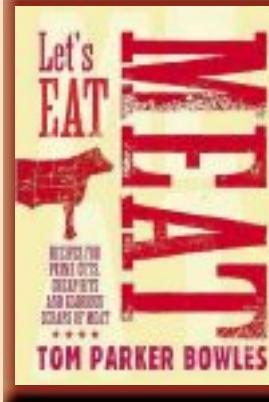

"I do believe that if you eat a little less meat, it means you can afford to buy better and use more of the cuts that are cheaper."

"The point of this book, if there is any point, is eat meat, love it, worship it but eat less of it and eat better meat."

The book includes a meat-free chapter, as well as one which shows how to use meat as a seasoning, and is also packed with recipes where traditional cuts and offal are the stars.

Parker Bowles, who lives with his wife Sara and their two young children, Lola and Freddy, is food editor for Esquire magazine and writes a weekly food column for Mail On Sunday.

Tom's tips for tasty meat treats

LANCASHIRE HOTPOT (serves 4)

200g boneless lamb shoulder, trimmed of excess fat and cut into 4cm pieces
150g lamb leg steaks, cut into 4cm pieces
150g lamb neck fillet, cut into 4cm pieces
Pinch of caster sugar
Sea salt and freshly ground black pepper
25g plain flour
4 lamb loin chops (100g each)
2tbsp olive oil
50g salted butter, melted
4 onions, thinly sliced
500g Golden Wonder or other floury potatoes, peeled and cut into 2mm thick slices

Preheat the oven to fan 160C/325F/gas 4. Season the shoulder, steaks and neck fillet with the sugar, half a teaspoon of salt and some black pepper. Toss with the flour and arrange in a heavy hotpot or casserole.

Season the loin chops. Heat the oil in a pan and sear the chops on all sides for three to four minutes, or until golden brown. Put them on top of the raw meat.

Heat one tablespoon of the butter in a clean pan over a medium-low heat until foaming, add the onions with one teaspoon of salt and cook for two to three minutes or until soft but not browned. Spread the onions evenly over the lamb.

Put the potatoes in a bowl, add the remaining butter, season with one teaspoon of salt and a pinch of white pepper, and mix well. Layer the sliced potatoes on top of the onions. Bake the hotpot, covered, for two hours, removing the lid for the final 30 minutes.

To serve, divide among four bowls, making sure there's a chop in each bowl.

He likes to support British farmers and is strong advocate for cookery classes in schools. And he credits his childhood in the countryside for giving him no illusions about the brutal reality of life.

When it comes to his own career, he is similarly pragmatic.

"There wasn't a moment when I decided to write about food, [it was] just greed," he says, laughing. "I fell into food writing. I had been sacked from every other job, I was rubbish."

Working as a newspaper food critic is a good fit for Parker Bowles. As he puts it: "I could string a sentence together, cook and eat. If you want to write about food you really need to be able to eat and I've never had a problem with doing that at all."

He says he generally eats less meat since having children. He and Sara split the family cooking duties at home, so spending time in the kitchen still feels like a pleasure.

And it's clear that while he is a husband and father first, he relishes spending time perfecting his recipes.

"For me, happiness is a Saturday in the kitchen with the radio on, just cooking," he says. "It relaxes me. I know I talk very fast and have lots of energy, but cooking actually fully relaxes me, it's very cathartic."

THE IMITATION GAME (12A, 150 mins)

Brilliant Benedict excels as wartime codebreaker

IN December 2013 The Queen granted a posthumous royal pardon to Alan Turing, the London-born mathematician who in 1952 had been prosecuted for homosexuality.

It was an undeservedly inglorious end for a brilliant man who, having been instrumental in breaking the Enigma code, should have been hailed a national hero.

The Imitation Game, based on a biography by Andrew Hodges, relives his race against time to decipher German communications and bring the Second World War to a swift conclusion.

The film starts with Turing (Benedict Cumberbatch) sitting in a police interrogation room with Detective Nock (Rory Kinnear), facing a charge of indecency with a 19-year-old unemployed man.

In flashback, we witness Turing's arrival at Bletchley Park where Commander Denniston (Charles Dance) and Major General Stewart Menzies (Mark Strong) preside over a group of the country's keenest minds in the hope that one of them can break Enigma.

Hugh Alexander (Matthew Goode), John Cairncross (Allen Leech) and Peter Hilton (Matthew Beard) work alongside Turing, but he ploughs his own furrow and raises eyebrows by recruiting Joan Clarke (Keira Knightley, pictured above) to the team.

Punctuated by school day scenes of the young Turing (Alex Lawther) and his first love – an older boy called Christopher (Jack Bannon) – The Imitation Game is a beautifully crafted tribute to a prodigy whose invaluable contribution to the war effort was unjustly besmirched by bigotry.

Cumberbatch is mesmerising, trampling over the egos of fellow codebreakers without any concern for their feelings as he vows to solve the most difficult problem in the world. It's a tour-de-force portrayal, complemented by strong supporting performances from Knightley, Goode et al as the close-knit team.

Morten Tyldum's masterful drama neither shies away from Turing's homosexuality nor lingers on it, framing nail-biting events at Bletchley Park with the mathematician's 1951 arrest in Manchester.

He navigates the fractured chronology with clarity and flair, ensuring that this heart-rending film doesn't itself become a perplexing puzzle.

The film balances an impeccable production design with an unconventional yet touching romance and an Oscar-worthy portrayal of the socially awkward genius by Cumberbatch.

The pivotal Eureka moment sets pulses racing, heightened by Alexandre Desplat's exquisite orchestral score.

HARLOW CINEWORLD Friday-Thursday 12.35/15.15/18.00/20.45

MR TURNER (12A, 150mins)

MIKE Leigh's impeccably crafted biopic of the celebrated landscape painter and watercolourist Joseph Mallord William Turner is anchored by a magnificent central performance from Timothy Spall.

Mr Turner opens with the breathtaking image of the artist capturing the rising sun over fields in Belgium. He returns to London and the home he shares with his father William (Paul Jesson) and housekeeper Hannah Danby (Dorothy Atkinson).

The relationship between the two men is sketched in exquisite, heart-warming detail as Turner channels his energy into his work, which continues to raise eyebrows at the Royal Academy of Arts.

During excursions to Margate, Turner meets Mrs Booth (Marion Bailey) and her husband (Karl Johnson) and rents a room from the couple so he can paint seascapes by the morning light. The burgeoning relationship between the artist and Mrs Booth sweetens the bitter pill of his father's death as Turner continues to clash with the artistic establishment, represented by Sir John Soane (Nicholas Jones) and his coterie.

Mr Turner is a glorious period piece that offers a glimpse behind the canvases of a misunderstood maverick.

The 150-minute running time passes too quickly, holding the audience's attention with ravishing costumes and period detail as well as a haunting orchestral score from composer Gary Yershon.

NATIVITY 3: DUDE, WHERE'S MY DONKEY? (U, 110mins)

MRS Keen (Celia Imrie), the new headmistress of St Bernadette's Primary School in Coventry, welcomes superteacher Mr Shepherd (Martin Clunes) to the fold to whip the pupils into shape ahead of an Ofsted inspection.

On his first day Mr Shepherd sustains a swift kick to the head from the school donkey. When he regains consciousness he doesn't recall his daughter Lauren (Lauren Hobbs) or his impending New York nuptials to sweetheart Sophie (Catherine Tate).

Buffoonish teaching assistant Mr Poppy (Marc Wootton) joins forces with Lauren to restore her father's memory by visiting favourite haunts from his childhood and participating in a flash mob competition.

Meanwhile, in the Big Apple, Sophie's old flame – arrogant flash mob guru Bradley Finch (Adam Garcia) – worms his way back into her brittle affections with help from her parents (Duncan Preston, Susie Blake), brother (Ralf Little) and bridesmaid (Niky Wardley).

Immaculate five-bed detached overlooking Harlow Common

coverproperty

Location Whieldon Grange, HarlowCategory DetachedAdditional Five bedrooms, two en suite shower rooms, conservatory, double garageGuide price £550,000Agent Reyland Johnson, 1 Acorn Mews, Harlow. Telephone (01279) 216216

This stunning detached family home at Whieldon Grange in the Church Langley area of Harlow is at the end of a cul-de-sac overlooking fields.

The property, which has five bedrooms and three bathrooms, is in immaculate condition throughout. It has been beautifully decorated, making the most of the natural light and space.

On the ground floor there are three reception rooms as well as a conservatory, a utility room, a converted double garage (currently used as a games room) and an extended, fully fitted kitchen/breakfast room.

Upstairs on the first floor, the master bedroom has French doors overlooking Harlow Common and an en-suite shower room. There is also an outstanding family bathroom and four further bedrooms with fitted wardrobes and an additional en-suite shower room to bedroom two.

The rear garden has low maintenance artificial turf and patio areas and there is parking for up to five cars on the driveway at the front of the house.

Located at the end of Kiln Lane, Whieldon Grange was built by Croudace Homes in around 2001. This property is the last house in the cul-de-sac.

Junction 7 of the M11 and Harlow Mill train station are both about two miles away.

For full details of this property or to arrange a viewing, contact selling agents Reyland Johnson on (01279) 216216.

Tracey Waples
Property Editor

WITHOUT wanting to sound too gloomy, this is the time of year when you need to be at your most vigilant and make sure your home is secure.

From the end of October when the clocks went back, through the darker winter months, statistics show a 20 per cent increase in home burglaries.

Long nights and dark streets mean that houses are easy targets for burglaries, especially if your security is not up to scratch. So make sure you do everything you can to prevent any unwelcome visitors.

If you're moving to a new home, it's a good idea to change your locks and use an anti-snap and anti-bump cylinder (ask a locksmith). Install an alarm if you don't have one and think about a CCTV system.

These are just two ways that you can protect your new home and it probably won't be as expensive as you think.

Statistically, having an alarm makes you up to three times less likely to be burgled. Many alarms are DIY-friendly and easy to install, so are ideal for a quick fix.

Empty houses are targeted by thieves for variety of reasons. As well as security devices, make sure your home looks like you are still there with simple and effective tricks. Try putting lights on timers, keep a few curtains ajar and use a radio on a timer or alarm to create audio noise.

It's not all doom and gloom though. Leading lock company, Yale, has launched a 'dark nights' campaign designed to create awareness of home security and to encourage people to lock up their homes during the dark nights.

Although the campaign highlighted the fact that there are more burglaries in the winter months, it also showed that there was a 12 per cent decrease in domestic burglary for the year ending March 2014 from the previous year.

End-of-terrace for £314,995

This end-of-terrace link home is in the sought-after Mornington area of Harlow and sits on a generous corner plot with potential for a double storey side extension (subject to planning).

The four-bedroom home is double glazed throughout with gas central heating, a refitted kitchen/diner with integrated appliances and a ground floor cloakroom.

The property also has a garage and a carport as well as driveway parking. For full details of this property or to arrange a viewing, contact Kings on (01279) 433033.

Yours for £225,000

In a quiet spot overlooking the green at Halling Hill in Harlow, this charming property would make an ideal first-time buy or an investment property.

There are three good size bedrooms and a luxury bathroom. On the ground floor are a living room, dining room and fitted kitchen.

The open green is in front of the house, providing a pretty outlook. The rear garden is not overlooked.

This property is available through Apple Tree Homes on (01279) 635975.

Six-bedroom detached for £425,000

Located at Davenport in the Church Langley area of Harlow, this extended, detached family home offers plenty of space and parking.

There are six bedrooms with an en-suite to the master, a spacious kitchen/diner and a large living area.

There is also a double garage and driveway parking.

The rear garden is mainly laid to lawn with plant and shrub borders, a patio and side access.

Contact Haart on (01279) 443311 for full details.

On the market for £425,000

The current owners of this period property in Commonside Road, Harlow, have managed to retain all of its charm and character.

The semi-detached property has three/four bedrooms and plenty of living space, with two reception rooms and a large, multi-purpose room which is an additional ground floor extension.

Character features include large sash windows, an open fireplace in the lounge and high ceilings.

There are impressive gardens as well as parking for several vehicles to the front and side of the house.

Howick and Brooker have further details on (01279) 418888.

Mondeo in the comfort zone

DESPITE the looks, this is an all-new Ford Mondeo. It concentrates on comfort more than before and it has a range of new engines to cut emissions and improve fuel economy.

Prime among these are new 1.0-litre turbo petrol and 1.5-litre turbodiesel motors that bring a new wave of downsizing to the family car class.

There are fewer dash buttons to come to terms with and Ford now fits a large touchscreen to operate many functions. On top of this, Ford's Sync2 voice control system lets the driver change settings with simple commands while keeping both hands on the steering wheel.

Looks and image

At first glance, you could be forgiven for thinking the new fifth generation Ford Mondeo is not much more than a face-lifted version of the previous car.

The overall silhouette is much the same, as is much of the rear end style. However, the slimmer headlights give a sleeker look that will be key to the Mondeo clawing back sales from the likes of the

Fact File

Ford Mondeo 2.0 TDCi 150 Econetic Titanium 5dr

£23,745

ENGINE: 2.0-litre unit producing 148bhp
TRANSMISSION: 6-speed manual driving front wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 134mph, 0-62 in 9.4s
ECONOMY: 69.9mpg (combined)
CO<sub>2</sub> RATING: 107g/km

Audi A4 and BMW 3 Series that have proved so popular with their premium images.

space and practicality

If the Mondeo is not seen as quite as premium as those rivals from Audi and BMW, it easily betters them for cabin space and load lugging. Most UK buyers will opt for the Mondeo hatch or estate, with only the Hybrid version available as a saloon.

There is masses of room in the rear and there is a wealth of adjustment to fine tune the driving position that includes electric seat height adjustment.

As for the boot, the hatch's is large and the estate's is cavernous.

Behind the wheel

Ford has made a conscious effort to make the new Mondeo an even more comfortable car than its predecessor. This means the new car's suspension has a little more compliance that translates into a superbly smooth ride over any type of road surface.

Refinement is also top drawer, so the Mondeo is a class leader for hushed long-distance travel.

The 2.0-litre turbodiesel can be a touch gruff at low revs but settles into the background at speed, while the other engines are quiet and pull cleanly.

While more refined, the Mondeo retains its ability to hustle through corners with composed ease, though the new car's steering is not quite as alert as the old model.

Value for money

Starting at £20,795 for the hatch and £23,795 for the estate, the Mondeo is not as keenly priced as its arch-rival, the Vauxhall Insignia.

However, the Mondeo compensates with a generous level of equipment that includes digital radio, climate control, cruise control, hill start assist, alloy wheels on all models and Ford's 8-inch Sync2 touchscreen.

Who would buy one?

Ford may have lost sales ground to its premium rivals but the bulk of sales for the new Mondeo will still come from company car drivers.

Carbon dioxide emissions that dip below 100g/km and up to 78.5mpg average economy will appeal to business users and private buyers alike.

Crucially, the Mondeo is keenly priced compared to its premium rivals from Germany, though it's hard to see many UK buyers abandoning their premium-badged saloons for a Mondeo hatch.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.

- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.

- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.

- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.

- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Public Notices

Essex County Council

(Burnt Mill, Harlow) (Temporary One Way) Order 2014

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council intends, not less than seven days from the date of this notice, to make the above Orders under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.
Effect of the order: To temporarily impose a one way restriction on the following length of Burnt Mill in the District of Harlow:

Road	Description	Permitted direction of travel
Burnt Mill, Harlow	From its western junction with A1169 Elizabeth Way, north then east then south to its eastern junction with A1169 Elizabeth Way.	Northerly then easterly then southerly

The restriction is scheduled to commence on 24 November 2014 for 2 weeks or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting, and is required for the safety of the public and workforce while works to replace the water main are undertaken.

The alternative route will be via A1169 Elizabeth Way. Access for emergency service vehicles and pedestrians will be maintained at all times during the closure.

The Order will come into effect on 24 November 2014 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier. Dated: 13 November 2014.

Liz Burr, Head of Network Management, County Hall, Chelmsford.

Dated: 13-November-2014

Aries 21 March - 20 April

The first half of the week

may involve a dilemma. However, with the right strategy you'll be able to sort this out in no time at all. The main thing is to ask for help - if you need it. So don't be too proud. Later, adventure beckons, as the New Moon in Sagittarius encourages you to expand your horizons and opt for new experiences. Call me now for more news and astral advice...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May

Being patient with someone who disagrees with you may result in a breakthrough later, so it's worth keeping the peace. Though you might meet with obstacles this week, with tact and diplomacy you'll be able to navigate your way through. Meanwhile, there's likely to be an opportunity for a fresh start as far as finances are concerned. Call for your financial scope...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June

Dealing with pressure may be part of your remit this week, but handling it well might boost your confidence too. In addition, taking the time to help someone out, even if you are under duress, will reflect on you very positively. Also the New Moon in Sagittarius on Saturday can be a sign of better things to come around your relationships. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July

Are passions running high? Then you'll need to contain the situation with some serious conversation. Indeed, don't try suppress your emotions, so do try to find a balance between the two. Meanwhile, health and lifestyle issues can gain in importance, encouraging you to consider a new diet or exercise routine. Call your prediction line for more news and astral advice...

Leo 24 July - 23 August

Someone with an attitude problem may irritate you, so try to keep your feelings in check, especially early in the week when the heavens are rather charged. Later though, the focus shifts to leisure and pleasure, fun and romance. A fabulous New Moon in Sagittarius can be helpful for enlivening a relationship, or expressing yourself more fulsomely. Call for your love scope...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September

You may need to apply extra staying power regarding a project or plan that's been rather languishing. Yet, with a final burst of concentration you can get there and feel rightly proud of the results and of yourself. Gradually the focus will shift to home and family affairs, and if you are minded to de-clutter or tackle DIY projects, this can give you satisfaction. Call for more...

Bella rings up success

HARLOW Gymnastic Club coach Lucy Farrow paid tribute to its young stars after their success at an Essex county tournament.

Bella Chandler (7) took part in her first competition for the club at the level 7 invitational event in Colchester. She was awarded the fourth place rosette for vault and a rosette for sixth place on the bars, finishing in a solid seventh place overall.

Top teams from all over Essex competed at the county levels team tournament.

The level three team for Harlow comprised of Robyn Power (15), Leah Johnson (13), Lowen Hall (15) and Joanne Baryliski (15), and won the fourth place rosette.

Notable performances saw Leah Johnson, placing third on vault, fifth on beam and sharing fourth place on bars with team-mate Joanne Baryliski.

Beth Harryman (14), Olivia Collier (13), Sadie Jesse (10), Tillie Macintosh (11) and Rosie Bennett (12) formed the level four team.

They were awarded with the fifth place overall rosette.

Olivia placed fourth on floor and team-mates Beth and Sadie, placing fourth and sixth on vault respectively.

The level five team consisting of Ruby Still (8), Heather Cannon (9), Halle Ince (10), Brodie Keown (9) and Scarlet McFarlane (9) received the fourth place rosette.

Coach Farrow said: "The gymnasts were really supportive and encouraging to each other, with lots of smiles and high fives during the competition."

Murtagh's top vet at Stebbing 10

THERE was a strong Harlow Running Club turn out for the Stebbing 10 mile race.

Steve Murtagh finished in third place out of 445 finishers and was first veteran 50 in a fantastic 58min 48sec.

He was followed by Rick Ricketts 37th in 1hr 06min 15sec, Jamie Jephcott 48th in 1.07:07 and Adrian Fell 79th in 1.10:21.

Title quest gets Stamp of approval for super Hawks

Harlow Tn ..... 2
Needham Market ..... 1
(Ryman League, Division North)

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN inspired substitution from Harlow Town manager Danny Chapman paid off as the Hawks beat Ryman Division North title rivals Needham Market to go back on top.

Chapman sent on winger Shane Stamp after Harlow were pegged back in the second half, and Stamp headed in what proved to be the winner just minutes after coming on in Saturday's crunch match.

Chapman made a brave decision by starting 17-year-old Southend United central defender Dan Matsuzaka, and he showed a maturity beyond his tender years and enjoyed an outstanding game.

Kemal Izzet, the brother of former Leicester City star Muzzy Izzet, skippered the visitors.

Harlow got off to a flying start when in-form striker Alex Read scored after only three minutes.

Junior Appiah put the ball across the box and Read fired a low shot into the bottom left corner from 14 yards out.

Whether the Needham keeper Shaun Phillips was unsighted or thought it was going wide, but it was an excellent finish from Read and gave Harlow boss Chapman the start he would have desperately wanted.

Harlow came desperately close to a second goal on 31 minutes. Layne Eadie's fantastic left-wing cross from the touchline was fumbled by Phillips. The ball came loose and Appiah was unlucky not to stab it into the net amid some frantic Needham defending.

From the ensuing corner,

Phillips made another mistake, but there were no Harlow players on hand to stab in the loose ball.

Soon after this came one of the most bizarre things I have witnessed in 20 years reporting non-league games as Izzet pulled a load of notes out and started dishing out tactical changes to his team-mates in the middle of the pitch in the middle of the game.

Needham went close again just moments after the restart when Newsom half-volleyed the ball over the bar.

Newsom went close again soon after this chance but the impressive Thompson saved again.

Needham finally levelled on 53 minutes as Newsom played in Daniel Cunningham, and he got the better of the young Southend defender Matsuzaka rather too easily important time.

On the stroke of half-time Jared Small did well to win the ball and cut into the box on the left but his pass across the box with Read lurking was too close to the Needham keeper.

Newsom went close again soon after this chance but the impressive Thompson saved again.

Needham finally levelled on 53 minutes as Newsom played in Daniel Cunningham, and he got the better of the young Southend defender Matsuzaka rather too easily before firing low across goal into the bottom right corner.

Chapman sent on winger Stamp for the tiring Appiah on the hour.

Harlow responded brilliantly to the goal by going back in front on 63 minutes as Stamp made a fantastic impact within minutes.

Jared Small's superb long-range pass from the right seemed to be too far in front of Stamp but he launched himself at it for a wonderful diving header at the far post, like something out of Tiger's Hot Shot Hamish comic strip, which Phillips could do nothing about.

Harlow came close to a third with quarter of an hour left as Smith's excellent ball set up Read but Phillips did well to palm this powerful strike away.

The Hawks seemed set to score a third with seven minutes left and if Stamp had gone down he would surely have won a penalty. He carried on and played the ball across the box to Read, who was adjudged offside.

Harlow nullified Needham in the last 15 minutes, and then battled on through seven minutes of injury-time to record a crucial win.

Changing face of rugby - no longer a men only domain

WITH only one set of changing rooms, Harlow Rugby Club's Anne-Marie Rand has explained the difficulties of juggling male and female players on matchdays.

The fairer sex are thriving at the club, and a move to Latton Farm will enable the club to expand and grow the number of girls and women's teams.

Rugby is no longer a male-only domain. Currently at Harlow there is one adult women's team and three girls sides: U13, U15 and U18.

The women's team play at a reasonably high standard in the RFU National Challenge South East division one north.

Rand explained: "The facilities are not currently the best in terms of usage for all. We train twice a week but do not have specific changing rooms and so have to get kitted up outside and normally drive home in muddy kit, quite tricky to attract newbies to the sport when there is nowhere specific to even keep our bags."

"So to have somewhere warm and dry to keep our bags and to get changed would be a real bonus and far more welcoming to newcomers."

"This will also provide us with somewhere inside to debrief about the previous weekend's game and set up what the training session is going to be about."

"On matchdays, we get changed in one changing room, often with the away team and then move to the official home changing room once the Colts have finished getting changed, not particularly the ideal preparation for a game!"

"The new facilities will enable us to all get changed in our relative changing rooms, getting the best usage out of the club from the Colts and the Ladies on a Sunday."

"We are really excited about what the new facilities will offer us as a team and the potential to develop and continue to attract new women to the sport."

Earlier this year, club chairman Alan Brooking outlined why the scheme was so important to the club.

He said: "The clubhouse was originally built for a men's team. We now have men, women and young adults - 800 members if you include parents at the club - and with the proposed plans we can have a multi-functional base that will be able to cater for everyone."

"We are a community amateur club and that is the key. We want to support rugby in schools, which is something we do now, right up to the England under 21s team."

"It's about rugby development and the new clubhouse would allow us to do that."

"Of course we will be extremely sad if and when we have to leave [Ram Gorse] but it is not enough to meet our needs."

TIME TO CONVERT: The Rams have outgrown the present site in Elizabeth Way and this could make way for housing CHRISTMAS is the time for giving – and this year it will be a date with destiny for Harlow Rugby Club as a bold project to move to a new site at Latton Farm is set to reach the boom or bust stage.

Having watched neighbouring sports clubs such as Harlow Town Football Club (The Harlow Arena), Harlow Athletic Club and Harlow Running Club (both Mark Hall Sportscentre), and Harlow Penguins Swimming Club and Harlow Hawks Basketball Club (both Harlow Leisurezone), secure plush new locations, the rugby club will hope to get its best present from Harlow Town Council – and start to plan a bright future in brand new surroundings.

Some 10 years after a Government planning inspector rejected the Rams' initial scheme to find a new and bigger home, the council's planning committee will meet on December 17 to decide whether to give the project at Puffers Green off Second Avenue the go-ahead.

The project would house a plush two-level clubhouse, 21st century changing rooms and floodlit pitches.

You have to wonder what the future holds for the club if the proposals are rejected, as it clearly out-grew its present location in Elizabeth Way many years ago.

Including parents there are 800 people involved in the club, with teams running right through from minis to the first team.

But perhaps the biggest change in the club is the impact of women's and girls rugby, and this is a major reason why it needs new facilities.

Sundays at the club are a juggling act with the Colts and the women's teams playing at similar times.

There are only one set of changing rooms at the run-down clubhouse at Ram Gorse, so you can only imagine how difficult it is,

ON THE MOVE? The site off Second Avenue which Harlow Rugby Club hopes to move to with players from these sides nipping in quickly to get changed – and never the twain shall meet.

Specifically the plan involves constructing: a floodlit first XV pitch, three other pitches, two surfaces for mini rugby matches, a clubhouse on two floors with a lounge and terrace which will permit matches to be watched from a viewing gallery, a floodlit training pitch, parking for more than 140 vehicles in total.

The bone of contention has been access to the site and the impact of the extra traffic, along with issues over the construction of 130 houses on the old Ram Gorse site.

The club withdrew the plans in the summer and revised them.

As part of the new scheme, vehicle access will be through Howard Way, with emergency access only via Second Avenue, both leading to busy bottlenecks and prone to huge volumes of traffic.

If given the go-ahead, Kier will build 130 houses on the old site, an ideal location near the station.

Time will tell if the brains behind this new scheme have done enough to convince town planners that this scheme is workable.

Certainly in terms of the future of rugby in Harlow, there are many that hope they have done enough to get the ambitious project the thumbs-up this time.

Work could then start in early 2015.

Club chairman Alan Brooking knows it has been a rocky road, but one that he hopes will end positively. "One thing I have learnt going through this process is that nothing is easy, but I do know that outcome will be even sweeter because of the trials and tribulations we faced on the way," he said back in June when the previous plans were withdrawn.

Late Bill goal ends Town's cup heroics

THE Hawks were knocked out of the Essex Senior Cup by Ryman premier Billericay Town in heartbreaking circumstances as they conceded a winner right at the death on Tuesday.

Harlow Town striker Alex Read bagged a brace, taking his tally to 27 goals already this term, but it was not enough.

Billericay took the lead on 14 minutes at The Harlow Arena. Glenn Poole's free-kick was headed in by Ryan Scott at the far post.

The Hawks, who beat Southend United in the previous round,

Harlow Tn ..... 2
Billericay Tn ..... 3
(Essex Senior Cup, fourth round)

equalised on 19 minutes. Read stabbed in a cross from former Billericay player Junior Appiah.

Billericay went 2-1 up on 64 minutes. Afolabi Obafemi stormed into the penalty area before finishing well.

Harlow levelled on 68 minutes. A great cross from substitute Shane Stamp saw Read net.

But Obafemi grabbed the winner a minute into stoppage time to secure a place in the fifth round.

Long way to go says boss as rivals fall

Warning for players after Harlow win crunch game

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman is adamant the Ryman North title race has only just begun – despite Saturday's crucial 2-1 victory over rivals Needham Market.

"I said to the boys before the game whether we win or lose, will not determine if we win the league – there's too long to go," Chapman said.

Harlow face a tough trip to Thurrock, just a few points back in third, on January 24, while the return at Needham comes on April 18, Harlow's last away game of the season.

"We play Needham [away] the [second] game from the end – and that's going to be the big three points. But it's always good to keep winning."

The victory stretched Harlow's unbeaten league run to 18 games. They went ahead of Needham, but the Suffolk side won on Tuesday to go top again.

"There was not much in it to be honest. They [Needham] started strongly in the second half. I don't think the [Harlow] players realise when they are beaten. They concede but they come back and go again," Chapman beamed.

"I thought we finished the game very strongly."

The arrival of Shane Stamp on the hour will certainly go down as one of Chapman's greatest substitutions. He had the ball in the net less than three minutes later.

"We needed freshening up and Shane has that pace. We wanted to get behind them," he said.

"We said to get the ball in the box and it was a fantastic delivery [from Jared Small]. Shane has that agility and he has got a great header. It was a great goal."

"You could not fault a single player. Josh [Urquhart] was top drawer."

"We will enjoy today the same as we enjoy the other wins. It was a fantastic win, but now it's done, it's over."

Harlow have a break from league action now.

The Hawks are away to Ryman premier side Hampton & Richmond next Saturday in the Robert Dyas League Cup second round.

Southend defender shines on Hawks debut

SEVENTEEN-year-old central defender Dan Matsuzaka is hoping to impress at Harlow Town in order to secure his first professional contract with League Two club Southend United.

Matsuzaka, pictured, has joined the Ryman North leaders on a work experience deal, and made a huge impression on his debut in the Hawks' 2-1 home win over leaders Needham Market on Saturday.

Harlow boss Danny Chapman swooped for Matsuzaka after he impressed in Southend's 4-2 Essex Senior Cup loss to the Hawks a fortnight ago.

Matsuzaka, who is from Barnet in North London, told the Star: "I want to get into the [Southend] first team. I want to get a professional deal."

"It's good to play men's football, it was a good experience. Josh [Urquhart] helped me through it. Josh was talking to me. Playing in the [Southend] youth team or the U21s, I don't get to play in front of crowds like this. I usually play in front of 20 or 30."

"It was more physical, a bit more direct. But it was great to play in front of a big crowd."

Matsuzaka, who is 6ft 3ins tall, is in the second year of a two-year scholarship deal, so is hoping he can land a professional deal next summer.

He was up against experienced Needham striker Sam Newsom, but showed immense composure throughout.

"I thought we were going to win the game, we had the better chances and we were the better side," he said.

"I thought their goal was offside to be honest. It was a relief when we scored [the winner]. It's three points. We definitely weren't going for the draw."

Southend gave him special permission to miss training on Friday so he would be fresher for his Ryman League debut.

"It was tough but once I got the hang of it, it was okay," he added.

Chapman was impressed with the youngster. He said: "Danny has only just turned 17."

"He looked very composed. He has a mature head. He does not get carried away and that's all you can ask of him."

"We have got a good relationship with Southend."
